

PRESS RELEASE

Openclaims expands into German market!

The Dutch SaaS platform for claims and body repair management, Openclaims, will open an office in Cologne, Germany, on 1 April 2022. Given the developments that the Amsterdam-based company has gone through in the Dutch market, the opening of the German office is a logical step. In October 2021 they already opened an office in Copenhagen, Denmark.

As in the Netherlands and Scandinavia, the German automotive market is experiencing changes in the body repair process and constantly maturing consumer needs. This requires adaptable, flexible, and innovative solutions. The Openclaims platform responds to this need by (further) digitizing the damage and repair management process of their customers.

Stephan Stergiou, CEO Openclaims, on the expansion into Germany: "After opening our office in Copenhagen, which serves the Scandinavian market, Germany was the most logical step for us. Due to the continuing demand from international customers, we expect to open even more local offices this year."

Openclaims offers a Software as a Service (SaaS) solution to customers in the leasing, insurance, and automotive markets. The platform offers end-to-end solutions that enable their customers to set up touchless backend processes, configure digital customer journeys and arrange data-driven distribution of car repairs. Customers like LeasePlan, Schade Garant (the foundation that handles all claims for insurers like Nationale Nederlanden and ASR), and German online insurer rhion (RheinLand Versicherungsgruppe) have already been working with the Openclaims platform for some time. The results are higher customer satisfaction, lower out-of-pocket claim and repair costs, lower process costs, and higher repair quality.
